

Directions: Please read pages 631 - 633 in the textbook Earth Science, then answer the questions that follow on your own paper.

1. What is a galaxy, and how many are found in our observable universe?
2. How were galaxies formed?
3. What are the three types of galaxies seen in the universe and describe each.
4. What galaxy is our solar system a part of and what type of galaxy is it?
5. What are the dimensions of our galaxy? (distance by thickness)
6. What is the power that drives the galaxy in its orbit?

Directions: Please read pages 631 - 633 in the textbook Earth Science, then answer the questions that follow on your own paper.

1. What is a galaxy, and how many are found in our observable universe?
2. How were galaxies formed?
3. What are the three types of galaxies seen in the universe and describe each.
4. What galaxy is our solar system a part of and what type of galaxy is it?
5. What are the dimensions of our galaxy? (distance by thickness)
6. What is the power that drives the galaxy in its orbit?

Directions: Please read pages 631 - 633 in the textbook Earth Science, then answer the questions that follow on your own paper.

1. What is a galaxy, and how many are found in our observable universe?
2. How were galaxies formed?
3. What are the three types of galaxies seen in the universe and describe each.
4. What galaxy is our solar system a part of and what type of galaxy is it?
5. What are the dimensions of our galaxy? (distance by thickness)
6. What is the power that drives the galaxy in its orbit?

Directions: Please read pages 631 - 633 in the textbook Earth Science, then answer the questions that follow on your own paper.

1. What is a galaxy, and how many are found in our observable universe?
2. How were galaxies formed?
3. What are the three types of galaxies seen in the universe and describe each.
4. What galaxy is our solar system a part of and what type of galaxy is it?
5. What are the dimensions of our galaxy? (distance by thickness)
6. What is the power that drives the galaxy in its orbit?

Directions: Please read pages 631 - 633 in the textbook Earth Science, then answer the questions that follow on your own paper.

1. What is a galaxy, and how many are found in our observable universe?
2. How were galaxies formed?
3. What are the three types of galaxies seen in the universe and describe each.
4. What galaxy is our solar system a part of and what type of galaxy is it?
5. What are the dimensions of our galaxy? (distance by thickness)

6. What is the power that drives the galaxy in its orbit?